Marine Engineer Level 2 Apprenticeship at The Army

★★★★★☆☆☆ 8.3/10

Programme Type: Apprenticeship - Intermediate Level (Level 2)

Salary: Competitive

Deadline: 30th January 2021

Role May Involve: Engineering & Manufacturing Transport & Logistics

Marine Engineer Level 2 Apprenticeship

The Army uses landing craft and other vessels to ferry soldiers, vehicles and supplies ashore. You are an important part of the crew, are responsible for maintaining and repairing the craft and its engines to ensure they stay serviceable. You will work on everything from small outboard motors to powerful marine diesel engines and a wide range of different operating systems, from electrical and hydraulic to transmissions and refrigeration - you're trained to fix them all. You work with the Army, Royal Navy, Royal Fleet Auxiliary and civilian maritime providers and could work in support of Commando and Special Forces.

Find where you belong.

World-class training

If you want to be a Marine Engineer, you'll start with your initial military training which will teach you how to be a soldier - this will cover everything from fieldcraft to how to handle a rifle. If you join as a Junior Soldier (under 17 years 5 months), you'll do a 23-week basic military training course at Harrogate. If you join as a Regular Soldier (over 17 years 1 month), you'll do the regular 14-week adult basic training.

Then it's a 21-week Marine Engineering course at MOD Lyneham. Further modules in Seamanship and Stevedore teach you the specialist skills you need to keep all Army vessels ready for action. You'll get your driving licence too, if you don't have it already.

Gain qualifications

The Army can help you gain a range of qualifications. These could include:

- Level 2 Certificate Logistics & Transport
- Affiliate Membership of CILT
- NVQ Level 2 Apprenticeship Engineering Maintenance and Installation
- IMechE Eng Technician
- C&G Refrigeration reclamation
- CMI Level 3 1st Line Management

Show people what you're capable of

We'll be with you every step of the way as you move up the ranks. From the moment you begin your training you'll get all the support and encouragement you need to make a success of your career. Work hard and you'll soon get promoted, which means more responsibility and extra pay.

Become a Marine Engineer and you'll:

- Earn a starting salary of around £15,985 during Basic Training which will rise to £20,400 after completing 26 weeks' training or after completing your Initial Trade Training, if less than 26 weeks
- Receive subsidised accommodation and facilities, increasing your disposable income
- Receive free medical and dental health cover
- Have the continuous access promotional opportunity and to continually progress your career
- Be sponsored to earn valuable civilian-recognised qualifications
- Take part in Adventurous Training and be able to play your favourite sports.

Belong to something that matters.

You should be:

- Regular Army age: 16.6 – 35.6 years
- Army Reserve age:
 - New enlistments: 17.9 – 43 years
 - Ex-Regular: 17.9 – 52 years
 - Specialist (Soldier): 17.9 – 50 years

Qualifications you'll need:

- GCSE Grade A–C/9-4 in at least English Language, Maths and one other subject

Fitness requirements:

- Mid-Thigh Pull 46kg
- Medicine Ball Throw 2.9m
- 2km run 11m 15s (11m30s for Junior Entry)

Locations: Nationwide

About The Army

The British Army is one of the UK's largest apprenticeship employer providers, giving you the opportunity to earn industry-recognised apprenticeships ranging across a variety of trades and skills. Completing an apprenticeship will help you progress with your career.

Develop New Skills and Experience

PRINCE'S TRUST

A unique opportunity for 16-25 year olds to develop new skills & experience

- EMPLOYMENT SKILLS • TEAM BUILDING
- WORK EXPERIENCE • RESIDENTIAL
- RECOGNISED QUALIFICATION

- ✓ Develop key social & practical skills by problem solving & working with others
- ✓ Access career advice & improve job prospects
- ✓ Give something back by taking part in a community project
- ✓ Make new friends, boost confidence & self esteem

WE HAVE FREE COURSES STARTING REGULARLY ACROSS MERSEYSIDE.

Merseyside Fire & Rescue Service deliver the outstanding FREE 12-week Prince's Trust Team Programme. This personal development course gives you the opportunity to gain a qualification, build skills such as confidence, teamwork and motivation - all while helping your local community. The course runs three times a year - January, May & September - from bases around Merseyside. The programme looks a bit like this (though the order is subject to change):

Week 1: Meet New People & Take Action

Get to know your team through fun activities your team leaders provide - you will soon start to feel like part of things. You will also start planning for the weeks ahead, setting out your goals and finding out how to get your qualification.

Week 2: New Experiences

This week is all about trying new things & learning how to work with others. This gives you a chance to break away from your current situation. The things you could do include canoeing, climbing, raft building, abseiling & much more!

Weeks 3-6: Community Project

Your team will decide on a project to benefit your local community. This gives you some great experience to talk about at future interviews. You will also plan & carry out a fundraiser to cover the costs of the community project.

Weeks 7-8: Work Placements

This is the time to see how the skills you have developed so far can help you in the workplace. It gives you the chance to try out an industry or company you are interested in. It's also a great opportunity to discover new roles and careers.

Week 9: Plan for the Future

Time to plan your next steps after the programme... You will get help to write a professional CV, practise your interview skills and a chance to practice filling out application forms.

Weeks 10-11: Meet the challenge

You and your team will take on various challenges to support others in your community. This is when you get to test out all the skills you have developed so far. You will also carry out a fundraiser to cover the costs.

Week 12: Have Your Say

In the final week, you will deliver a presentation with your team to an invited audience. This is a chance to show off the talents & skills you have discovered. It may sound scary now, but after 12 weeks, you'll be surprised how far you've come!

Information, advice & support are provided throughout.
Enrolment on the course will not affect your benefits.
During the course you complete a learning record to gain an Entry Level 3, Level 2 or Level 1 Prince's Trust qualification in Employment, Teamwork & Community Skills.

18 Tips for Succeeding During Your Zoom Interview

More employers may choose to conduct an interview using video conferencing software. This is because it tends to be more convenient for remote positions or initial screening interviews. Since this type of interview is a bit different than a traditional in-person interview, it's important that you consider a few factors of this format. In this article, we share 18 tips on how to prepare for your interview Zoom call.

What is an interview zoom call?

An interview Zoom call is when you interview for a position using Zoom. Zoom is a type of video software that many companies use to connect with others remotely. It has various tools such as screen sharing, text chat, video recording and muting. Once you learn how to properly use these tools, you can use them to your advantage during your next video interview.

Tips for succeeding during zoom interviews

These Zoom interview tips can help you master this video software and show employers you're a qualified candidate:

- Use the mute button.
- Look into the camera while speaking.
- Choose a professional background.
- Find a brightly lit room.
- Pick a quiet space.
- Silence your phone.
- Maintain your focus.
- Turn off notifications.
- Use a laptop or computer.
- Charge your laptop.
- Update your computer.
- Find a good internet connection.
- Communicate with your household.
- Wear professional attire.
- Keep your screen clear.
- Practice using Zoom.
- Use appropriate body language.
- Ask your interviewer questions.

Use the mute button

Zoom has a feature where you can mute your audio. This is a great feature to use while your interviewer is speaking for long periods. While using the mute button, they cannot hear anything on your end. This is useful when there are loud sounds in your household such as dogs barking or children playing. Keeping yourself on mute as they speak can help your interviewer feel more focused on what they want to tell you.

Look into the camera while speaking

During an in-person interview, maintaining eye contact with your interviewer is a sign of confidence and respect. Video chat makes this a bit different, because if you were to look them in the eye on your screen, it may not look like that on their end. Instead, look into the camera as you are speaking. This creates the illusion that you are looking at them rather than yourself or the screen.

Choose a professional background

When setting up your computer, choose an area that is tidy and free of clutter. Make sure your background is sparse rather than busy and only has professional-looking items in the background. Setting up in front of a blank wall or a few tasteful decorations shows that you are organized and pay attention to detail.

Find a brightly lit room

Your interviewer needs to be able to see your body language and facial expressions during your Zoom interview. Choose a room with good lighting, so they can easily see you. Setting your interview space facing a window that lets in a lot of natural lighting is a great way to make yourself more visible. Setting up with a window behind you can cast shadows on your face and make you appear to look like a silhouette.

Pick a quiet space

Choose an area that is quiet and free of distractions. This way your interviewer can direct their full attention to what you have to say. A room where you can shut the door is an ideal space to interview. Limit other noises by closing windows and turning off your music or the television.

Silence your phone

Before your Zoom interview, silence your phone and put it away. This way, you can focus on the interview rather than a text message or phone call. It may be a good idea to put your phone away awhile before your interview, so you can clear your mind and focus on preparing before you start.

Maintain your focus

While your interviewer is speaking, keep your focus on the screen. Like you would in an in-person interview, show them that you are paying attention to what they have to say through active listening. You can do this by affirming what they say, nodding as they speak and asking questions based on what they say.

Turn off notifications

Along with turning off your phone, you should also turn off any notifications on your computer. Close out of any social media websites or anything else that could become a distraction. Set the Zoom meeting to full screen so that your interviewer is the only thing you can see.

Use a laptop or computer

Although Zoom has a mobile app, it's better to use it on a desktop computer or laptop. Having your computer on a table creates a more stationary view of yourself while holding your phone in your hand could cause camera shake. Your computer camera also gives the interviewer a better view of yourself and tends to come in clearer.

Charge your laptop

If your interview space doesn't have an outlet, make sure to fully charge your laptop before your interview. Ideally, you should choose a spot where you can leave your laptop plugged in during the entirety of your interview. This way, your device can last throughout a lengthy conversation.

Update your computer

Get the newest edition of Zoom prior to your meeting. Likewise, also do a full system update on your computer well in advance. If you were to accidentally click on the install update notification during your interview, this could cause your computer to restart mid-interview. By doing these updates a few hours before the interview, you can ensure your device is at its best.

Find a good internet connection

Prior to your Zoom interview, make sure you have a strong internet connection. Test out your connection where you plan to sit during your interview. If you can stream video or Zoom with other people, then you are likely to have a solid connection during your interview.

Communicate with your household

If you live with other people, let them know when and where you are interviewing. Right before your interview starts, remind them to give you space and keep a quiet volume until you are done. It is best that those you live with remain in a separate room than you, so you can stay focused.

Wear professional attire

Dress exactly how you would during an in-person interview. This means you should wear your nicest business attire. Things like dress pants, blazers, formal shirts, formal dresses and modest skirts can all be great options. Even if the interviewer cannot see your legs, still wear nice bottoms to feel fully prepared and professional.

Keep your screen clear

In the event that you need to use the screen share option, it's a good idea to close out of everything on your desktop before your interview. This can also prevent video or audio from suddenly playing in the background. Closing out of all websites may also help your Zoom call load more efficiently.

Practice using Zoom

Get to know Zoom and all its capabilities. Test out the software by having video chats with friends and family. You could even do a few mock interviews to get a sense of what this type of interview feels like. Have your friends and family ask you typical interview questions and give you feedback afterward.

Use appropriate body language

One benefit of using video chat rather than a phone call is that you get to see each other's body language. During your interview, sit up tall with your hands in your lap and your feet on the floor. While you speak, you may use your hands as well if that's natural for you. As your interviewer speaks, use nonverbal cues such as nodding and smiling to show that you are listening.

Ask your interviewer questions

As you learn more about the role, take a mental note of what questions you want to ask at the end of your interview. You can also prepare questions you have prior to the interview, so you have something to ask. Make sure to listen throughout your interview so you only ask questions about topics the interviewer hasn't covered yet. Appropriate questions could be about the company's culture, this role's responsibilities or what the interviewer enjoys most about the company.

EARLY YEARS TRAINEESHIP

12-week Traineeship programme

A Traineeship will help you grow in confidence, allow you to become familiar with the workplace and improve your professional attitude. The core aim of the programme is to improve your maths and English grades and provide a high-quality work experience that could lead to an apprenticeship.

Although Traineeships are unpaid it is valuable as it gives you the experience, qualifications and skills that can set you apart from other candidates and an opportunity to demonstrate this in the workplace.

The programme content is a blend of online classroom learning and work placement that is split over the course of the programme.

Online learning will include:

- Functional skills
- Safeguarding, prevent and equality and diversity
- Understanding your role, business organisations and work preparation training

Work placement will be for minimum 70 hours in a local early years setting.
