Aspinall House champions dignity

Aspinall House champions dignity because dignity, although difficult to define, relates to self-worth, privacy, and respect and manifests itself in an individual's controlled behaviour. It also defines how we treat others. Everyone deserves to be treated with dignity. This is why our house charity is Zoë's Place, Liverpool. Zoë's Place Trust is a registered charity providing palliative, respite and end-of-life care to babies and infants aged from birth to five years suffering from life-limiting or life-threatening conditions.

Margaret Aspinall CBE

Margaret Aspinall CBE - The chairwoman of the Hillsborough Family Support Group, whose son James died in 1989. Margaret is an inspiration to us all. Even when it seemed like the whole of the establishment was against her and the families, they fought and they fought until they achieved justice. To suffer the loss that Margaret and the dozens of families did is the worst nightmare for any family, but to have to wait more than 20 years to clear the names of their loved ones who died is unimaginable. The whole country has seen how they have carried the fight with dignity, with a refusal to give up on the truth. She truly is a woman of dignity.

"Dignity means to respect people and not be mean to them, no matter how silly they can be and... treat them how you would like to be treated. For me, this is dignity."
